Construction of animal shelter delayed again

By BRENT MACEY

Plans to begin construction of an animal shelter in Bay St. Louis have again been delayed, this time until early February.

And a possibility exists that the Hancock County Animal Control Commission, once more, may begin looking for a new site.

Currently, Bay St. Louis agreed to donate land for construction of the shelter on a levee of the Bay sewage treatment lagoon located off Old Spanish Trail.

Construction materials are available for work to begin, but problems have arisen concerning availability of labor to do the work.

C. J. Dumestre, Jr., of Waveland, director of Hancock County Animal Control Commission, said plans for the United States Navy Seabees of Gulfport to start construction in late September of this year went astray when the Navy units decided to accept work in Gulfport.

Instead of coming up here they did some work closer to the base, he said.

He said the unit which would have constructed the shelter here, chose to expand the existing animal shelter in Gulfport.

Dumestre noted the Navy commander of the Seabees unit cannot assign a job. He has to approve it. But the unit has to accept the mission. They (the unit) didn't want to come up here when they found they could work down there, he said.

He said the Navy commander now has approved the February date for construction here.

Dumestre said a new unit will be arriving in Gulfport on Jan. 5 and work could begin Feb.

After as they know they (the unit) agreed to do the work, he said.

However, he would not rule out the possibility that February date might also be postponed.

In addition, the Bay St. Louis City Council recently approved a sewerage treatment plan for the city which calls for the expansion of the present lagoon system to form a three-cell, multi-lagoon system.

Plans to add a four-acre cell, called "Seabees" lagoon, system, proposed enlarging the lagoon in the industrial location where the animal shelter was planned to be built.

In reference to a need to find another animal shelter site, Larry Bennett, Bay St. Louis mayor, said, "It's a possibility, a very good one."

If the Seabees were able to start today on the work we would have to let them to hold up, he said.

Bennett said there is no written agreement between the city and the commission concerning the location of the site.

He stated implementation of the plans to enlarge the city's sewerage lagoon would be given top priority over the animal shelter.

While the problems are being worked out, stray animals from the Bay Waveland area are being trucked to an animal shelter in Gulfport.

Problems and delays have plagued the plan to construct an animal shelter since the project was conceived two years ago.

At that time a site was proposed in county, also owned. However, the location was not suitable for the animal shelter.

The new site could be located on a levee at the lagoon and more time would be needed before railroad ties and fill could be trucked to the area to provide a solid foundation for the shelter.

That requirement, plus problems with scheduling the Seabees to do the work, have since delayed the project an additional year.

Bay providing free fill for residents

Piles of soil in yards of residents in the Cedar Point area of Bay St. Louis are the complements of the city's street department.

Danny Johnson, supervisor of the department said recently city crews have been working in the area clearing drainage ditches of debris.

But instead of transporting the dirt to a city yard near the fire department located off Old Spanish Trail, city crews have been dumping it in the yards of residents.

"We already dumped a pile of dirt on the property and it was in the wrong place," he said.

"It only took a couple of bucket loads to move it," he said.

He reported moving the dirt was a matter of common courtesy.

US-90 to the city yard.

He denied any work is being done on private property.

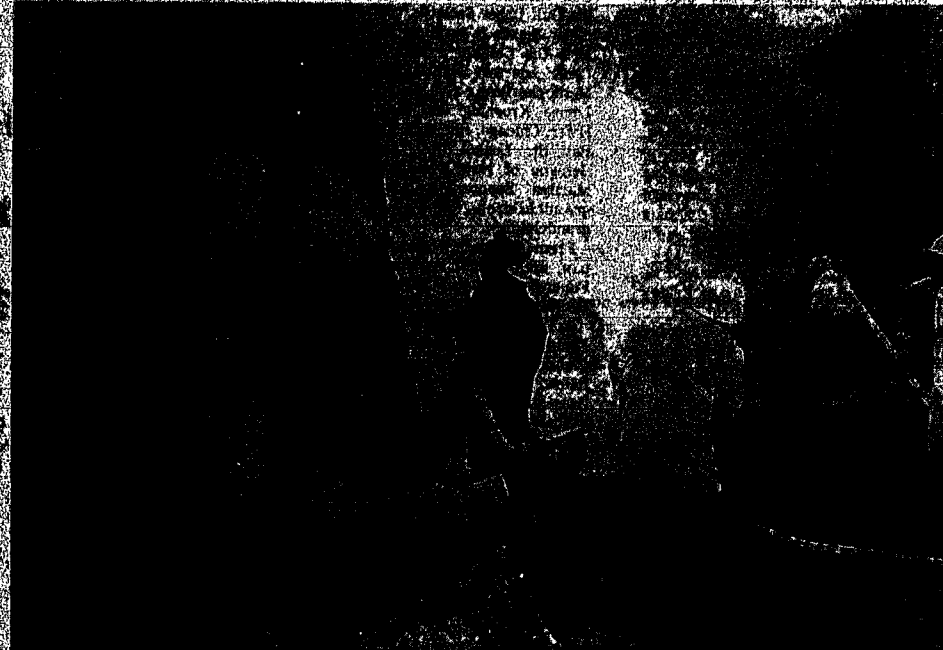

Monday area residents complained city equipment was being used to spread one pile of dirt over another owner's front lawn in Melody Lane.

Johnson said the city's street department is not responsible for the dirt in the yards in another location.

"We already dumped a pile of dirt on the property and it was in the wrong place," he said.

"It only took a couple of bucket loads to move it," he said.

He reported moving the dirt was a matter of common courtesy.

(GETTING) East Hancock Volunteer Firemen, including Fireman, center, and John Holderman, center, battled the smoldering building. But most of the contents inside were saved as firefighters from Waveland, Clermont Harbor, Diamondhead arrived within five minutes of the blaze reported Monday morning.

Phone company finishes expansion in Bay area

At that time a market and development study was conducted by the telephone company's forecasting department. It predicted growth of some 3,000 new homes within the next four or five years.

To meet the needs of the future, a conduit was installed from the central office building on the corner of St. Francis Street and St. John Street in Bay St. Louis to the corner of Old Spanish Trail and Nicholson Avenue.

From Nicholson Avenue the conduit was extended to approximately one-half mile north of US-90 on Hwy. 603.

A company spokesman said the conduit enables the phone company to add cable in a congested area without having to dig up the street.

Also, the conduit cable was buried south of Nicholson Avenue and Old Spanish to Central Avenue, up Central Avenue to Washington Street and north to Old Spanish Trail.

Each circuit consists of two wires. And a separate circuit is needed for each household with the exception of those homes which have party lines.

In addition, a 600 circuit aerial cable now connects the Spanish Acres and Garden Lakes subdivisions.

Other areas which have not been developed will be able to tie into the "feeder" lines now in place.

Clermont rate hike pending

A public hearing in Jackson Monday, the Mississippi Public Service Commission agreed to wait before deciding whether a water rate hike is necessary in Clermont Harbor.

Citizens from Clermont Harbor attended the hearing in Jackson to inform PSC representatives that a second attempt to increase rates to a high level considering the type of service the 201 customers have been receiving.

Johnson Utility Company recently requested a second rate increase to $12 per month for water service.

Crop Reporting Service mails questionnaire

A sample of Mississippi farmers will receive a questionnaire during the last week of November pertaining to their 1981 crop acreage and production.

Dick Knight, statistician in charge of the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, said the survey will be conducted to gather information concerning the acreage and production of crops grown in 1981.

Over 20,000 Mississippi farmers will be asked to complete these questionnaires. Since crop production accounted for 58 percent of the state's cash farm income in 1980, it is important that the results be as accurate as possible.

Because of this, Knight stressed the need for farmers who receive the questionnaires to fill them out and return them promptly.

State statisticians use the findings from this survey and data supplied by other farm surveys to compile the state's annual report on agriculture. The report is published in November and is a valuable source of information for the state and the nation.

For more information, contact the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P.O. Box 100, Jackson, Miss. 39201.

Thanksgiving

Today, the traditional day of counting blessings taken for granted throughout the year, we give our thanks for the blessings we enjoy as citizens of a free democracy.

We are grateful for the freedoms which we often take for granted, the right to choose our religious faith, to elect those who govern and the obligations of the governed to guide, to criticize and even condemn those who misuse their official responsibilities.

As a nation and a people, we're grateful for the beautifully rich soil we are blessed with and the means to produce food to feed not only ourselves and our allies, but also the hungry throughout the world.

We send our wishes, hopes and prayers that next year, on this day and everyday, we can be thankful for the blessings showered on those less fortunate...the presence of the dignity of man among the poor...the return of life, decency and morality into the hearts of the powerful...the enlightening of the minds of those who oppress...and the returning of peace to this currently troubled world.

On this day of family unity, as we relax from the food and drink which has filled our bodies, we offer a prayer to the God of every faith for unity, love and blessings in the world, such as those felt within our homes this day.

Bits 'n pieces

We heard a good one this week. It seems this family visited grandmother for Thanksgiving, which is a tradition in many families.

Now this parent had several children...oh! we know his name, but it would be too embarrassing to mention. But this parent returned home after eating a big Thanksgiving Dinner at his mother-in-law's and realized he had forgotten one of his children.

We hope all will make sure they have all their children before they return home and count again after dinner to make sure everyone is present before journeying back home.

The grounds of Bay St. Louis City Hall are as beautiful as ever for this holiday season.

Victor (Black) Saucier keeps a watchful eye on the mums and other plants and does a job every resident of the city can appreciate.

We are always impressed with the many colors in the city hall garden and the beautiful care given the lawn and shrubs. At this Thanksgiving, we feel the residents of Bay St. Louis can be thankful for having Saucier as the city hall grounds keeper.

Home accidents often preventable

Deaths and injuries in the home from accidents often result from improper equipment or the improper use of equipment, and the only answer is never-ending vigilance.

The so-called "Freak" accident usually is not all that unusual. It most likely has happened before, in other homes, and often could have been prevented, the American Medical Association points out.

More than 10 percent of home deaths result from a variety of causes, including drowning, electricity, lawn mowers and falling objects.

Deaths from drowning occur in home swimming pools, bathtubs and wading tubs and ponds. Pools should be securely fenced, and reliable adults should be present when the pool is in use. Poles, ropes and life preservers should be readily available.

Young children must not be left alone in the bathtub or wading tub for any period. Boiling or very hot water on the stove is in the laundry is a common cause of death to inquisitive toddlers. Extreme caution with power lawn mowers and other power gardening tools is important to safety. In addition to the danger from the whirling blades, stumps and objects can be thrown with lethal force.

Search the lawn carefully for rocks, bolts and other such objects before mowing. Power mowers should not be operated by children.

Home injuries and deaths result from a number of factors—the individual, the environment and the particular hazard involved. Remember that home accidents usually are preventable.

While hazards are predictable and almost always preventable, your job is to anticipate and prevent.

MARIJUANA TRAFFIC INCREASING—Hancock County Sheriff's Department Deputy Glen Strong, left, and Alton Sick, an auxiliary deputy, display 19 bags of marijuana recently found in a vehicle in the Santa Rosa area. In recent months several major finds of marijuana have been confiscated in Hancock County. Much of the marijuana is grown in the county. Law enforcement officers are making arrests with the assistance of tips from residents which help very much. It is possible for more help to be given law officers, as they are unable to do the job of eliminating marijuana by themselves. Marijuana is in Hancock County, and it is now time for all citizens to realize that it is here, and their help is needed to do away with it.

News

If Mississippians are going to enjoy the economic benefits of an expanded industrial base, they must accept responsibility for solving the hazardous waste problem, according to a research report issued by the Mississippi Economic Council.

"The state actively recruits industry and seeks with great diligence to increase its economic base through expanded manufacturing," said MEC Chairman W. W. Gresham, Jr. "But the state has no licensed commercial facility for the storage or treatment of hazardous, nonradioactive by-products generated by the industries it seeks."

The Indiana businessman pointed out that the lack of proper disposal facilities presents three major problems to the state:

—Existing industries are placed at an economic disadvantage by having to transport wastes to out-of-state disposal sites.

—The uncertain availability of out-of-state disposal sites may adversely affect Mississippi's industrial growth. The lack of readily available disposal facilities could encourage improper disposal, endangering the health and welfare of the state and its citizens.

"Like prisons and sewage treatment plants, hazardous waste disposal facilities are viewed as undesirable, but they are necessary," said Gresham. "It is a problem that the state must deal with to ensure the health of its citizens and provide an attractive climate for industry."

The Council study, "Hazardous Wastes in Mississippi," recommends that Mississippi and Mississippians accept responsibility for the safe and effective management of hazardous wastes, that the public health and safety should be protected, and that providing safe disposal be viewed as a social responsibility and a necessary government service. The report further recommends that the state take immediate action to establish a hazardous waste management facility.

would have been a great disservice to the majority of your readers. The duty of the press is to inform the public of all the facts, not just some of them.

Pass resident feels lethargy permeates Reagan administration

Dear Sirs:—At midnight Nov. 20, the world's greatest democracy or republic ground to a halt, the Congress refusing to pass the budget necessary to operate.

The past few weeks, we have seen David Stockman's criticism of the Reagan administration and Richard Allen, the National Security Advisor, under scrutiny of the Democrats, charged with taking the U.S. to Japan.

Even the great communicator, Ronald Reagan, can't state as he has done in the past that the government is not in a state of emergency.

The country is in a state of emergency, and the country is in a state of emergency, and the country is in a state of emergency.

HOUSE APPROVES FY1982 DEFENSE BILL

By CONGRESSMAN TRENT LOTT

5th District, Mississippi

The House of Representatives has approved one of the most comprehensive defense bills ever, representing a serious commitment to restore our country's military power.

On final passage, the vote was 355-61 to approve the $197 billion defense appropriations bill for fiscal year 1982. Of course, the bill still faces action in the Senate.

This was a very important piece of legislation, providing some $37.4 billion for active duty and Reserve military personnel, $10.3 billion for operation and maintenance, $5.7 billion for procurement and $10.3 billion for research and development. It also carried almost $15 billion for retired military pay.

The bill actually was about $8 billion less than the amount originally requested by the White House, and the Appropriations Committee had already made some reductions which I did not feel were damaging to the defense of our country.

So, I strongly supported the bill and worked actively on the House floor to help it pass. There were efforts to make reductions in the already-reduced committee bill, including one which would have cut about two percent across-the-board. It failed by only five votes.

The two major amendments, though, involved a continuing struggle to build the B1 bomber and the MX missile. The House rejected an effort to knock out $1.8 billion in funds for the B1 by a margin of 121 votes. A similar amendment to exclude $1.9 billion in funds for the MX missile failed by 125 votes.

I opposed both of these amendments and am very pleased that funding remained in the bill for the B1 and the MX, both of which in my opinion are vital defense resources.

We need the long-range, manned penetration bomber because we do not have aircraft that can follow on to the B52 program. The MX missile, even though some questions remain about it, is a piece of hardware we need to protect and defend our shores.

Also of interest to me was the fact that the bill contained $7.7 billion for Navy shipbuilding, a fact that should lead to additional shipbuilding contracts at Ingalls in Pascagoula within the next couple of years.

All in all, I think the House passed a good defense appropriations bill that will help begin to rebuild our military might.

Art Association changes format

Hancock County Art Association monthly exhibits at Bay St. Louis City Hall will be conducted under a new format beginning Dec. 1, according to Carl Baldenhofer of Waveland, association treasurer.

Members will each exhibit one painting which will hang through the month, with each member to exhibit a different painting during consecutive months, Baldenhofer added.

Previously, one member would display his or her entire collection for one month, with a different member displaying each consecutive month.

"Mayor Larry Bennett is enthusiastic about the new arrangement which we feel will give the public a better variety of art, and will also be fairer to our entire membership who are all anxious to have their works in City Hall," Baldenhofer noted.

Precautionary measures urged against holiday crime surge

Poor economic conditions, burglaries and shoplifting will increase dramatically during the period from November to the end of December, said Dr. Charles L. Quarles, director of law enforcement programs at The University of Mississippi.

Armed robberies, burglaries and shoplifting will increase dramatically during the period from November to the end of December, said Dr. Charles L. Quarles, director of law enforcement programs at The University of Mississippi.

There may be more desperation and therefore more stealing this holiday season because of cuts in social security and welfare type payments that have taken place this year, said Dr. Quarles.

Many people will use these economic and societal reasons as excuses for turning to crime for getting money for the holidays.

It becomes very important for homes and businesses to be protected during the holiday season because there is a decreasing chance that the criminals will be apprehended, Dr. Quarles commented.

There is a very small chance that these criminals will be caught during the holidays because there is so much shopping, social and traffic movement," he said.

Police services become overextended during this period of the year because of increased traffic demands and the more visible or dangerous cases that they are called upon to respond to.

This curtails their ability to prevent crimes. It becomes a game of time, money and resources. Unfortunately, it is a game that the 'good guys' are going to lose during the holiday season.

Shoplifting alone will increase generally by about 15 to 20 percent in stores during the holidays, Dr. Quarles said, resulting in a profit loss of up to 15 percent, which could be crippling to many companies.

The answer to cutting down on shoplifting is to have a conscientious, or developed, protection system for everything in the store. This means that the store should plan its layout and lighting systems, have electronic scanners and make it well known that anyone caught shoplifting will be prosecuted to the fullest extent.

Armed robbery attempts are another major problem for storeowners during the holidays, Dr. Quarles commented.

The primary way to cut down on robbery and burglary is to have hardware systems and to let it be well known that the store has this system," he said.

Almost all robbers study and survey businesses before they commit the crimes. If the store has signs that say its premises are protected by hardware systems, then the robbers will usually go somewhere else.

He added that new systems are now available which have units in locations away from the cash register, so that employees can trigger an alarm to call the police without the robber knowing. The systems are the Remote Alarm Transmission System (RATS) and The System for the Improved Detection and Apprehension of Criminals (SINDAC).

These systems are like attaché cases with antennas, Dr. Quarles explained. They are placed somewhere in the store, and employees have an alarm about the size of a silver dollar that they can place in their pockets and trip when a robbery is in progress. This will set off a pre-recorded tape on the unit which calls the police.

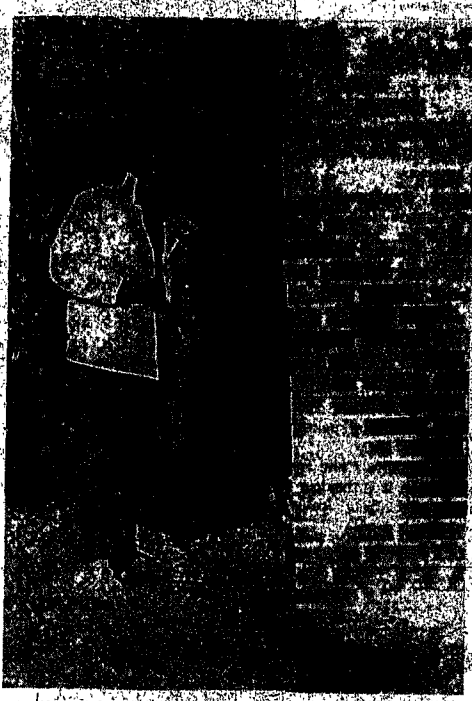

Burglaries in the home can be reduced by a similar hardware system, or by another type of detection system which scans motion when a burglar enters the home.

Homeowners also need a system that will detect a break-in, as well as to notify the police and alert those in the home," Dr. Quarles said.

I would recommend a hard ware system and an ultrasonic motion detector to complement one another."

Dr. Quarles was recently named second vice-president for the Southern Association of Criminal Justice Educators, the largest regional professional organization in the nation for law enforcement, criminal justice and criminology professors. He also recently received the Certified Protection Professional (CPP), which was started in 1977 to certify professionals in the private security industry. To date only 1,000 individuals have been awarded the CPP in the United States.

FATHER INDUCTS DAUGHTER—Major Byron F. Cooking up a storm

By Katy McGuire Caire

Is there anything more tasty late on a Thanksgiving night than a luscious cold turkey sandwich, with shredded lettuce and a generous splash of cranberry sauce with perhaps a bit of the dressing as we call it, or stuffing mixed in? I think not. In fact, I know!

But, no matter how hungry you are that night, there's still some left, isn't there? Well, you can cream it, or make salad, or do many a thing with it, but to my palate, one of the most elegant and easy ways to say by-birdie to the Thanksgiving turkey is Turkey Divan—a luscious blending of turkey and broccoli in a creamy, cheesy, winey-spicy-crumbly overcoat.

For too many years broccoli wasn't a very fashionable vegetable, belonging as it does to the odiferous cabbage family. Then, one lucky day, some chef noticed it tasted fine, and another day another harried cook found little around the larder, but cooked turkey, left-over broccoli and such when unexpected guests appeared. From situations such as this are great dishes born!

The secret's in the sauce, laced with splashes of sherry or brandy, and in the way all the flavors blend together.

"This is a true party dish too and an easy-on-the-cook spectacular as well—as it can be made well ahead of time leaving the hostess free to enjoy her own dinner party at least until it's time to wash the dishes!"

So here is:

TURKEY DIVAN

(Serves 6)

2 packages frozen broccoli, cooked

(Or, 2 bunches fresh broccoli, cooked)

Slices of turkey, or chunks, to equal two cups

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1/4 cup flour

2 cups milk

2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Dashes of Worcestershire, hot pepper sauce, salt, pepper, lemon juice

Generous splashes of sherry or so, of dry sherry or brandy

Make a cream sauce of the butter, flour and milk. (You know, melt the butter, add the flour, stir around, add the milk, stir some more, and keep warm).

Meanwhile, place the cooked broccoli in the bottom of a casserole, top with turkey slices or pieces, pour the sauce over.

Top with seasoned bread crumbs, well spiked with Parmesan cheese, then pop into a 350-degree oven a half hour or so, till it crusts rather well, and serve with hot bread and a green salad.

NEW EQUIPMENT HGH—A new print-out machine has been installed at Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis which is tied in with the University Medical Center Poison Services in Jackson. The new machine which is for the Gulf Coast tri-county area is studied by, from right, Phil Langston, HGH administrator; Becky Farnham, Mississippi Gulf Coast Emergency Services District project director; Kathy Savage, director of nurses at HGH; and Michael Hughes, coordinator of the University Medical Center Poison Services. Hughes said the new machine, which is hooked in with telephone lines, can transmit immediately the most up-to-date information on the treatment on any type of poison, especially some native to this area. The unit at Hancock General is for Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties. Hughes reported in recent weeks a child from the coast was involved in eating tung nuts and the doctor called the center in Jackson and was provided with a treatment. Hughes stated, "The youth had eaten a fairly toxic dose, but with proper treatment is doing ok now." The machine can also be used for the transmitting of persons' hospital records and other information when necessary. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas) league spokesman said Saturday Nov. 21 games are scheduled, from 9 a.m. at the Bay High School field, the St. Clare's School field and the Waveland Civic Center field.

The Ole Miss Rebels, defending champions of the Southeastern Conference Basketball Tournament, will open their regular season Saturday, in Oxford at Tad Smith Coliseum. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

"Troy State has a history of giving Southeastern Conference teams a tough battle. They obviously would like nothing better than to upset us. We need to look good—especially in front of the home starting lineup," Weltlich said. "As far as I'm concerned, two of the starting fly spots are open at this time."

The Trojans were 13-13 last year and return four starters from that team. Darrell Fawson, a 6-4 forward, led the Trojans could be very quick especially with the aid of two highly-recruited guards, J transfer Terrence Stanley from Orlando, Fla., and freshman Tim Brown of Gadsden the coach explained.

In the first half of the doubleheader, the Ole Miss Lady Rebels will play the Troy State women's basketball team.

"This being our first game, it's very important that we win it," Coach Bob Weltlich said recently. "We will have to have more intensity, especially on the defensive end of the court, than we had against Marathon Oil (Loss Monday in a 75-85 Reb win) and crowd," Weltlich reported.

Against Marathon Oil in Oxford, Carlis Clark, junior co-captain, paced the Rebels charge with 24 points, while freshman forward George Buckner, canned nine points and claimed two rebounds to take second-place scoring honors for the winners. Frankie Sanders had 20 points for the Oilers.

This coming week is going to be key in determining our team in scoring last year with 14.6 points per game. Sophomores Mac Madison (6-5 center) and George Cowie (a 6-7 forward) chipped in 13.1 points an outing for Troy State last year. Coach Wes Briel led this Trojans to a 2-3, GUSA South record good enough for seventh place in the conference.

Troy State will bring relatively small team to the Smith Coliseum, but it

Ole Miss returned four starters of last year's 19-10 team, but off-guard Cecil Dowell tore a knee ligament during the off-season and will be lost for the year, which leaves the Rebels with three returning starters. Clark (14 points, 3.8 rebounds), Roger Stiel at center (7.4 points, 4 rebounds), and point guard Sean Tuohy, a preseason All-SEC choice who got 5.6 points and dished out 1.7 assists.

When River Junior College, Long Wilcox, last year defeated South Division champion Wilcox a few days before Thanksgiving before putting their undefeated record on the line again, about 100 fans from Parrish, the home Wilcox cruised to victory 23-14. However, LSU fans are expected to outnumber the home team over Christmas.

Mississippi Lions to preserve their undefeated record.

After leading 32-21, the Lady Lions battled back to tie the Lady Wildcats at 34 with less than three minutes remaining in the game. Each team could muster only one basket during the final minutes of the contest and the game wound up deadlocked at 36.

PRC outscored the Lady Mississippi ladies 112 in their five minute period.

The leading scorers for the Lady Wildcats were William Stan Briggs of Waldo and

Pearl River defeated 31-6 in gridiron championship

Holmes Junior College scored 24 unanswered points in the second quarter and then went on to blast Pearl River Junior College 31-6 in Double Holden Stadium Saturday night to capture the Mississippi Junior College gridiron championship.

What started out as a real defensive struggle between these respective North and South Division champions, suddenly turned into a runaway performance for Holmes in the second quarter.

In the opening stanza, the Wildcats failed to take advantage of two Bulldog fumbles. Twice Pearl River was given the ball in excellent field position and twice came away empty.

In the second stanza, Holmes broke the ice by driving 78 yards in 10 plays to get on the board with a 27-yard field goal by Steve Aydelotte. Holmes set up its second score of the period by dropping Tony Smith, PRC's punter, at the 23. The Bulldogs blasted through the line with a heavy rush and Smith had no alternative but to run for his life on the play.

Two plays later, quarterback Thomas Trussell fired a 22-yard scoring strike to wide receiver Roger Totten. Aydelotte drilled the first of his four extra point kicks and Holmes led 10-0.

The Wildcats came roaring back on their next possession by driving deep into Holmes' territory.

With the ball on the Bulldog

23, Larson faded back and fired a pass which was intercepted and returned 72 yards by Edward Thompson. Larson, the last man to have a shot at Thompson, finally corralled him at PRC's 13. Five plays later, Holmes increased its lead to 17-0 when Roderick Jones banged across from the 2 with 2 minutes and 23 seconds to play in the half.

Some 48 seconds later, Holmes put the game virtually out of reach. On the ensuing kickoff, Pearl River's Lloyd Henry fumbled the ball after returning it to the Bulldog 45. Kenny Plain pounded on the loose ball and one play later, Holmes lit up the scoreboard again on a 52-yard bomb from Trussell to wide receiver Rickie Martin.

Eddie Holt fumbled the next

Holmes kickoff, but the Wildcats defense stiffened and held the Bulldogs scoreless. Just prior to intermission, the Wildcats had another scoring opportunity, but Larson's pass intended for Steve Dees was intercepted at the goal line.

Nothing went right for the Wildcats, who suffered the worst defeat ever recorded in a junior college state championship game. The Cats committed six turnovers in the game.

Larson, who had company in the backfield all night long, was forced to hurry his passes on several occasions.

The sophomore from Oak Grove completed only 19 of 44 passes for 228 yards and three interceptions. Holmes sacked Larson seven times for a minus 46 yards.

Holmes increased its margin to 31-0 in the third quarter on a 7-yard run up the middle by fullback Glenn Lepard. The Cats' only score of the night came with 4 minutes and 22 seconds remaining in the third period on a three-yard run by Larson. Smith's extra point kick was blocked and that's the way the scoring ended.

Holmes, who didn't attempt a pass in the entire second half, finished the game with 278 yards in total offense.

Trussell was six of 10 in passing for 113 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions.

Pearl River ended the 1981 season with an 8-3-1 record and trophies for being runner up in the state and for winning the south division.

Holmes, 10-2, will play Tyler, Tex. in the Garland Bowl in Garland, Tex. on Saturday, Dec. 5.

HNC Junior High forms Beta Club

Hancock North Central recently organized Junior High Beta Club.

Students were selected from the sixth through ninth grades. Members of the club are those who, in the opinion of the faculty and administrator of the school, are of worthy character, good mentality, and creditable achievement. Each student must meet certain scholastic requirements.

Students recently elected officers for the 1981-82 school year are: Deanna Necaise of the eighth grade as president; Freda Ladner of the eighth grade as vice president; Angela Davis of the ninth grade as secretary; Brett Favre of the seventh grade as treasurer; Michael Seal of the sixth grade as scrapbook chairman; and Danette Smith of the eighth grade as student council representative.

Officers are elected by majority vote of the total student membership.

"Members of the Beta Club have plans for several projects to benefit their school. They will also participate in educational field trips during the year. The first trip is a tour of the NASA Space Center," says Phillip Terrell, principal.

Club sponsors are Mrs. B. Ferguson and Mrs. S. Clark.

The U.S. Coast Guard has approved a four-week able seaman training program conducted by the Louisiana Marine and Petroleum Institute in Houma, La.

A person who completes this program is eligible for an AB-Special (OSV) endorsement when he has only 80 days (12-hour days) of sea service instead of the normally required 120 days of 12 hour service.

A person holding an AB endorsement is considered a skilled seaman, and is normally paid $10-$20 more per day than the entry rating of Ordinary Seaman.

The AB-Special (OSV) endorsement applies to vessels engaged in supply and support to the Offshore Oil Industry.

The AB program is designed to constitute an 'exit point' in the school's two year comprehensive mate training program.

The trainee can discontinue training after receiving an AB endorsement or continue until eligible for a mate's license.

The mate trainees attend LaMPI for short periods (4-9 weeks) of training totaling 45 weeks.

They also spend approximately one year of the two year program earning wages while employed aboard vessels working the offshore oil fields of the world.

Classes start January 19, March 2, April 14, and May 11.

The school is operated by the State of Louisiana and does not discriminate by race, creed, sex, national origin or qualified handicap.

There is no tuition for Louisiana residents and non-

Handicapped Mississippians are in for tougher times based on new figures for federal allocations to states, according to a State Department of Education spokesman.

totaling nearly $3 million.

"At that time, Webb says his agency expected to be able to serve about 15,000 in FY 82.

"With this latest cut, the figure should drop to around 14,300, Webb says.

"When you compare this to the over 25,000 we served in FY 80, you can see how much these federal cutbacks are affecting the handicapped in Mississippi," said Webb.

As a result of the federal action, he has notified his

This is money we use to aid undisciplined people in their rehabilitation. It could go for counseling, job training, therapy or a number of other things. Right now, based on an average amount spent per inmate, we anticipate not being able to serve an additional 700 persons."

By 1982, the department announced reductions in federal funds for rehab.

EDUCATION UPDATE

By Hancock County
Superintendent of Education Billy Sills

Planning, Accountability and Instructional Management in Hancock County Schools is being developed as a continuing program.

Since the latter part of the 1980's, educators have encountered growing demands for a greater degree of accountability.

At present, more than forty states have some type of mandated form of educational accountability.

The Mississippi State Legislature enacted the assessing accountability law in 1975.

It required the State Department of Education to initiate a system of educational accountability for all school districts in the state. Mississippi has adopted what is known as the AIM plan for educational accountability. AIM is an acronym for Accountability and Instructional Management.

The AIM plan consists of three basic components: design, program description and an evaluation design.

Each accredited school in Mississippi will be required by law to develop its own accountability system by Nov. 1, 1984.

This system must be comprehensive enough to meet official guidelines set forth by the State Department of Education.

Teachers and administrators in Hancock County are in the process of developing the program design and program description components of the AIM plan.

These components include the outline of the program as well as process content and output.

The bulk of the work for this plan is being done by the teachers themselves.

During the 1980-81 term, all teachers were asked to list skills and objectives that pertain to their subject area. This list of all has been reduced and revised by committees of teacher representatives from each school and county.

It is hoped that such plans will provide us with a systematic plan for continuing monitoring of the instructional program in the school district. Because these plans are being developed by teachers, they should be better able to determine how it is to be implemented and evaluated.

Reagan is seeking deeper education cuts.

The Reagan Administration's assault on federal education programs and budgets have had its setbacks, but it is sure to return in the new congressional session with renewed vigor.

In the past several programs escaped huge cutbacks, but now these face legislative time bombs.

Half of the Impact Aid Program, funding for 'B' students (those whose parents work on federal installations, but live elsewhere), will be cut.

Intensive lobbying by education groups thwarted Reagan's efforts to turn most of the basic federal education programs into one big block grant.

The administration has not given up and now has support from a coalition of groups which see the block grants as a means to 'defund' other groups supporting public education.

If federal funds are to be reduced or cut, there will be significant changes in the services that schools will be offering to students.

Southern offering Yucatan expedition

Students and others interested in Mexican geography and culture can go on a Yucatan Expedition Jan. 4-11, 1982 from the University of Southern Mississippi.

The seven-night trip includes excursions to Mayan ruins, the Caribbean coast and overnight stays in Merida, Valladolid and Cancun.

The trip will be directed by Dr. Tim Hudson, director of the graduate program in Economic Development in the Department of Geography. Hudson has lived and worked in the Caribbean and Latin America.

No other foreign culture is as accessible to the Gulf South (only one and half hours from New Orleans) where we can gain an appreciation of one of the New World's most advanced cultures — the Maya," said Hudson.

Among the ruins to be visited will be Uxmal and Chichen Itza.

Participants may either choose the non-credit option or receive credit for Geography of the Yucatan.

Space is limited so participants are urged to make reservations early.

For additional information contact the Department of Community Services, Travel and Women's Programming, Southern Station, Box 5133, Hattiesburg, MS 39401 or contact Dr. Hudson at 268-7103.

Industrial noise class set at USM

The University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg will offer an Industrial Audiology and Hearing Conservation Workshop Dec. 14-16.

Dr. Robert C. Rhodes, Department of Speech and Hearing Sciences professor, will conduct the workshop designed for industrial nurses, safety engineers and others responsible for complying with Occupational Safety and Health Act regulations on noise and hearing loss.

"The workshop has successfully trained many industrial hearing conservationists in Mississippi and surrounding states over the last decade," a university spokesman says.

The number of participants will be limited so persons interested in the workshop should contact the Department of Business and Industrial Programs, Southern Station Box 5055, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39401.

Gulf Park library nets grant

The library at the Gulf Park branch of the University of Southern Mississippi in Long Beach recently received a $1,200 grant from the U.S. Department of Education.

Under College Library Resources Program, Title II-A, the grant is a basic grant that most small college libraries receive each year, says Project Director Susan Fletcher.

"The Gulf Park library has received the grant for the past five years and it will be used to purchase library materials, including books, microforms and audiovisual software, such as film strips and video tapes," she reports.

The percentage of smokers continues to drop. The proportion of Americans 12 years old and over who smoke fell to 32.6 percent in 1980 from 35.7 percent in 1978. Women accounted for the biggest decrease; there are now 40,000 fewer women smokers than in 1975.
